Commercial Travelers Will Play Ball in the Cache County City.

You Will Want to Go and Root for Best Fellows in the

The Salt Lake division of the United Commercial Travelers are much encouraged over the prospects for their annual outing at Logan on June 9 and 10. They have responses from all the manufacturers and jobbling houses in the State promising the release of their traveling men and managers for the ocasion and tendering such assistance as is within their power. Favorable re-sponses have also been received to in-citations sent to Gov Cutler. Senatora Smoot and Sutherland, former Senator Thomas Kearns, Mayor Morris and the City Council and other distinguished citi-

Great Crowd Will Attend.

The outing is being extensively advertised all over the State. The drummers expect to carry not less than 2000 persons from Sait Lake and Ogden on their special train, leaving here on the morning of the 9th. The United Commercial Travelers of Idaho will be largely represented. The Ogden branch of the organization will join the Sait Lakers at that place and assist in making the occasion a notable one.

Unique Advertising.

Some unique advertising matter is being sent out. One of the most striking is a poster bearing the photographs of the U. C. T. baseball team, that covered themselves with glory and dust at Logan last year. The central figure in the aggregation is "Little Billy" McAllister, perched on a baseball bat, which is being swung high in the air by one of the stalwards on the team. At the bottom of the poster are portraits of a hayseed combination, supposed to represent the Logan team.

If you come into possession of a small card bearing the inscription: "Mr. R. U. Going, Logan, Utah, 9-10. Representing a Good Time," don't be puzzled, but pack your grip and "git" on the days indicated to the capital of Cache and help make the days hilarious.

Boosting the Event.

The Cache County club is boosting the big days with vim and energy characteristic of the Loganites. They announce a grand horse parade on the 2th, with band concerts, a big ball and other interesting concerts, a big ball and other interesting features accompanying. On the 10th there will be a grand industrial parade and the biggest baseball game of the season. There will be numerous other attractions during the two days, and the Commercial Travelers will be the Hons of the occasion. Anybody who talks business will be fined to the limit, as a good time is intended for everybody.

HEAVY FREIGHT MOTOR CAR.

Monarch Company of Salt Lake Will Soon Have Big Machine Ready.

In a short time there will be turned out by the Monarch Motor company of this In a short time there will be turned out by the Monarch Motor company of this city a heavy freight motor-car which will be used to deliver goods to the mining camps and towns as far west as Goldfield by one of the large iron manufacturing establishments of Salt Lake City. The car will be an unusually heavy one, with wheels forty inches in diameter, and the driving power connected with the front as well as the rear gear wheels. The advantage of this latter invention is pointed out by the motor company in these words: "In getting the drive on the front as well as the rear axis we put the power on all four wheels, thus making a natural drive, giving more power for the same engine, more ease in riding, a saving in gasoline or steam, a saving in all wearing parts of a machine, making a perfect hill climber, and a vehicle that you can start out with and know that you can come back with it in less time than any other motor of the same horsepower."

The Monarch Motor company will shortly build a factory in this city for the manufacture of freight and passenger motor-cars. It looks upon the field as a most promising one and thinks that in a short time it will be able to supply the demand of the intermountain region. This machine will be given a severe test by being driven fron Salt Lake via Promontory and Wells to Goldfield, Nev.

Western Federation of Miners Decides to Have This Done in Denver Cemetery.

Sessions of the national convention Western Federation of Miners, promise to be more interesting during the second week than they have been during the first. The reports are in the hands of the committees, all of the committees have been appointed and most of the routine business has been disposed of. At gesterday's session a resolution was adopted directing John M. O'Niell, who is in charge of the headquarters at Denver, to have the graves of Myron Reed, Davis H. Waite and Mrs. William Davis appropriately decorated on Memorial day. Who the People Are.

Who the People Are.

Myron Reed was a Denver minister, known throughout the West for his liberal views and his adherence to the cause of the workingman. Davis H. Walto was the Fopulist Governor, who stood between the armed deputies of the mine owners and the Crippie Creek miners during the strike of 1904, and finally brought the trouble to a peaceable and satisfactory settlement. William Davis was an organizer for the Federation at the beginning of the last Crippie Creek strike. He was placed in the built pen, His wife was ill and anxiety over his arrest, it is claimed, caused her death and the death of her infant child. Davis was in the built pen when those who were of all the world the dearest to him were laid in the cemetery at Denver and the sod above them was watered by the tears of men who had witnessed many a pittful scene with dry eyes.

Will Take the Crisis.

Will Take the Crisis.

The convention adopted resolutions on the recent death of Martin Elliott of the American Railway union. Five hundred dollars was appropriated for the relief of the coal miners, who are still on sirike in Carbon county. The Federation unanimously decided to pay for 1200 subscriptions to the Crisis, a Salt Lake weekly newspaper which advocates Socialism and industrial unionism.

Industrial Unionism.

The opening gun in behalf of industrial unionism was fired by President Moyer in a lengthy speech yesterday afterneon. He went far back into the history of organized labor, and traced the developments which have weakened the power of the craft organizations and made an industrial organization an economic of the craft organizations and made an industrial organization an economic necessity. He declared himself strongly in favor of the organization of a national system of industrial unions, such as will be discussed at the meeting in Chicago June 37. President Moyer's position was evidently in accord with the sentiments of the miners' convention, for they cheered almost every utterance. During the progress of the meeting every delegate will be given an opportunity to express his attitude toward industrialism.

Difference Is Explained. Difference Is Explained.

There is considerable ignorance, even among union men, as to the meaning of an "industrial" as opposed to a "trade" union. The difference is this: In a trade union the members are eligible by reason of their skill in a given trade. If they are machinists, they may work in son of their skili in a given trade. If they are machinists, they may work in railroad shops, printing offices, foundries, factories and ore mills, yet they all enter the same union. Under an industrial form of organization the union would include only those employed in a given industry, regardless of the part which they might play in that industry. The railroad machinists would affiliate with all other railway employees in a transportation union; the printing machinists would enter the union of the printing trades, including printers, pressmen, stereotypers, and every one connected with the publishing business; the foundry machinist would be one with all the other employees of that foundry and that line of industry, instead of with the machinists in other industries. The plan forther includes interchangeable working cards and a uniform system of dues, but these are only incidental.

In Force Several Years.

In Force Several Years.

In Force Several Years.

The Western Federation of Miners, the American Labor union, the Brewery Workers, and some other organizations, have had the industrial system in force for several years. It has never been countenanced by the American Federation of Labor, which has slways upheld the jurisdiction of the craft union when it came in conflict with an industrial union. These and other disputes led to the withdrawal of the miners from the American Federation of Labor in 1826, and to the formation of the American Labor union the following year. The local newspapers which speak of the "threatened withdrawal of the miners from the American Federation" are several years behind the times. The two bodies have been more or less at odds for several years.

Delegates Are Photographed. Delegates Are Photographed.

With the Mormon temple for a back-ground, all of the delegates to the West-ern Federation of Miners' convention were photographed after yesterday's meeting They went to the temple grounds in a body, and were permitted to sit on the grass at the south side of the temple while a photographer trained his camera upon them.

To Visit Park City.

To Visit Park City.

There will be no session of the convention today. The delegates have been invited to go to Park City as guests of the Park City Miners' union. Those who go will have a chance to see the new Miners' hospital, and also some of the great silver mines of the camp. President Moyer and Secretary Haywood said last night that they would be compelled to forego the pleasure of the trip to Park, but a goodly number of the miners will leave on the special train which departs from the Rio Grande depot at 9 a. m. and leaves Park City, returning, at 7 p. m.

Meeks during the past week, one on Thursday evening at Iliff church, the other on Friday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall, and on both occasions Mrs. Meeks delighted her hearers. Her versatility is little less than remarkable, while her power as a ventriloquist has been recognized in all the Eastern cities where she has been heard.

The programme of Friday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall was given under the auspices of the O. E. S. circle, whose members had invited a number of friends of Mrs. Meeks to hear her read. The programme included a great variety of selections, but in each Mrs. Meeks was equally at home. Her Scotch and Irish dialect readings, the tender things from Field and Riley, the selection in which her powers of ventriloquism were displayed, and another in which she imitated a number of birds in their love songs—all were given in a way which betrayed rare talent and exceptional training, and Mrs. Meeks was the recipient of a number of encores.

Friends are trying to persuade Mrs. Meeks to give another recital before leaving for Idaho, and she may decide to remain for that purpose.

Outlook for the Good Roads Convention on May 31 Is Most Flattering.

Special to The Tribune. PROVO, May 27.-At the meeting of the taxpayers last evening to consider the question of bonding for an electric light plant, the knockers were knocked out in the first round. Out of 168 votes cast only five voted against the proposition, and 163 votes were cast in favor of bond-ing or calling an election for that pur-ing or calling an election for that purpose.

It was evident from the time the meeting was called to order that the sentiment was strongly in favor of the city buying the distributing system from the electric company, and the few speeches against it fell very flat and on deaf ears. AMERICAN FORK, May 27.—American Fork citizons are feeling jubilant over the increasing supply of water, which is coming from the trench in the northern part of the city, which is being constructed to increase the city's irrigation supply. It is now very near completion and promises to be a very bell help to the water users. The water question is one of a very serious moment to the farmers of this place, it already having been the cause of many people moving to Idaho, Canada and other Northern points, where the Irrigation supply is much better. During this summer other attempts will be made both here and in the canyon to increase the supply.

Sullivan was a miner and came here last August from Silverton, Colo. He was employed at the Silver King mine until a few days ago, when he drew his time and went on a drunken spres. Last night he left his comparitons under the pretense that he was going to bed, and walked to the place where he took his life. It is thought that he cut his throat on the hand of the creek and in his dring agonies rolled over into the water. That the deed was premellitated is shown by a letter which was found in the dead man's pocket, apparently written shortly before he left town. The letter is as follows.
